"Once in a vision I came on some woods and stood at a fork in the road. My choices were clear, yet I froze with the fear of not knowing which way to go. One road was simple acceptance of life, the other offered sweet peace. When I made my decision, my vision became my release."

— Dan Fogelberg

Dear Classmates:

Our high school career has ended. These four years have passed too quickly for some and too slowly for others. Do you remember how nervous and scared we were when we first entered this building? Now, as we prepare to leave, all our fears of high school are behind us. It's on to new adventures and new friends. Here, in this book, we have tried to capture precious moments so that we will always remember our senior year.

As we reflected on our experiences, we sought the appropriate theme under which to file all our remembrances. The theme which we thought to be most appropriate is The Circus. We don't mean a circus in the respect that school was a charade, but merely that we have pooled all our talents and skills to create a performance, a performance in which we have developed from frightened souls into unique individuals. It has been these individuals who have created the Class of 1980. To each and every member we extend our best wishes and congratulations for the super job done in making this class one of the best to ever pass through the doors of Reading Memorial High School.

We have all walked that thin tight rope growing more steady as we neared the end. Now it is time for us to take a stand in the center ring and lead the show through its finale. We've all shared the moments in the limelight and now comes the time for us to exit. Let us leave as happily as we came, only possessing a more abundant knowledge of life.

To all the ringmasters, clowns, artists, and anyone else involved in our circus — thank you. And a special thanks to all the parents for putting up with us, not only for these past four years but for our lifetimes. Remember, this one's for you.

Your editors,

Marion Hiltz, Robin Dillon

DEDICATION

Robert Swanson

As Seniors, one of the hardest tasks is saying good-bye to the close friends that we have made since ninth grade. It is especially difficult to say good-bye to one individual, Mr. Swanson.

As a teacher, he is enthusiastic. There is never a dull moment in his classroom, but then, what else would you expect from a man who idolizes Churchill? Yet, the characteristic which distinguishes Mr. Swanson is his true understanding of his students.

As our class advisor during tenth and eleventh grades, he gave us the incentive we needed. Mr. Swanson sacrificed a great deal of his time to plan and participate in class activities. We will always remember the good times we shared with him, particularly apple picking and the Junior Prom.

At the beginning of our senior year, Mr. Swanson realized that he would be unable to devote the necessary time to help make our final year a success. He made the hard decision to step down from his position, so that the senior class would not be short changed. However, whenever we needed him, he was always there.

In dedicating this yearbook to Mr. Swanson, we hope to express our appreciation and respect for him, not only as a teacher, but also as a true friend.

IN MEMORIAM

Frank Kudaroski

January 4, 1962 to April 13, 1979

To those who knew him, Frank Kudaroski was better known as "F". He was a person who enjoyed having a good time and being with friends. Come any Friday night, Frank was looking for a party. One beautiful quality "F" had was his willingness to sit and listen to a friend with a problem. He was always there, if you just needed someone to talk with. Conversations with Frank were often very deep.

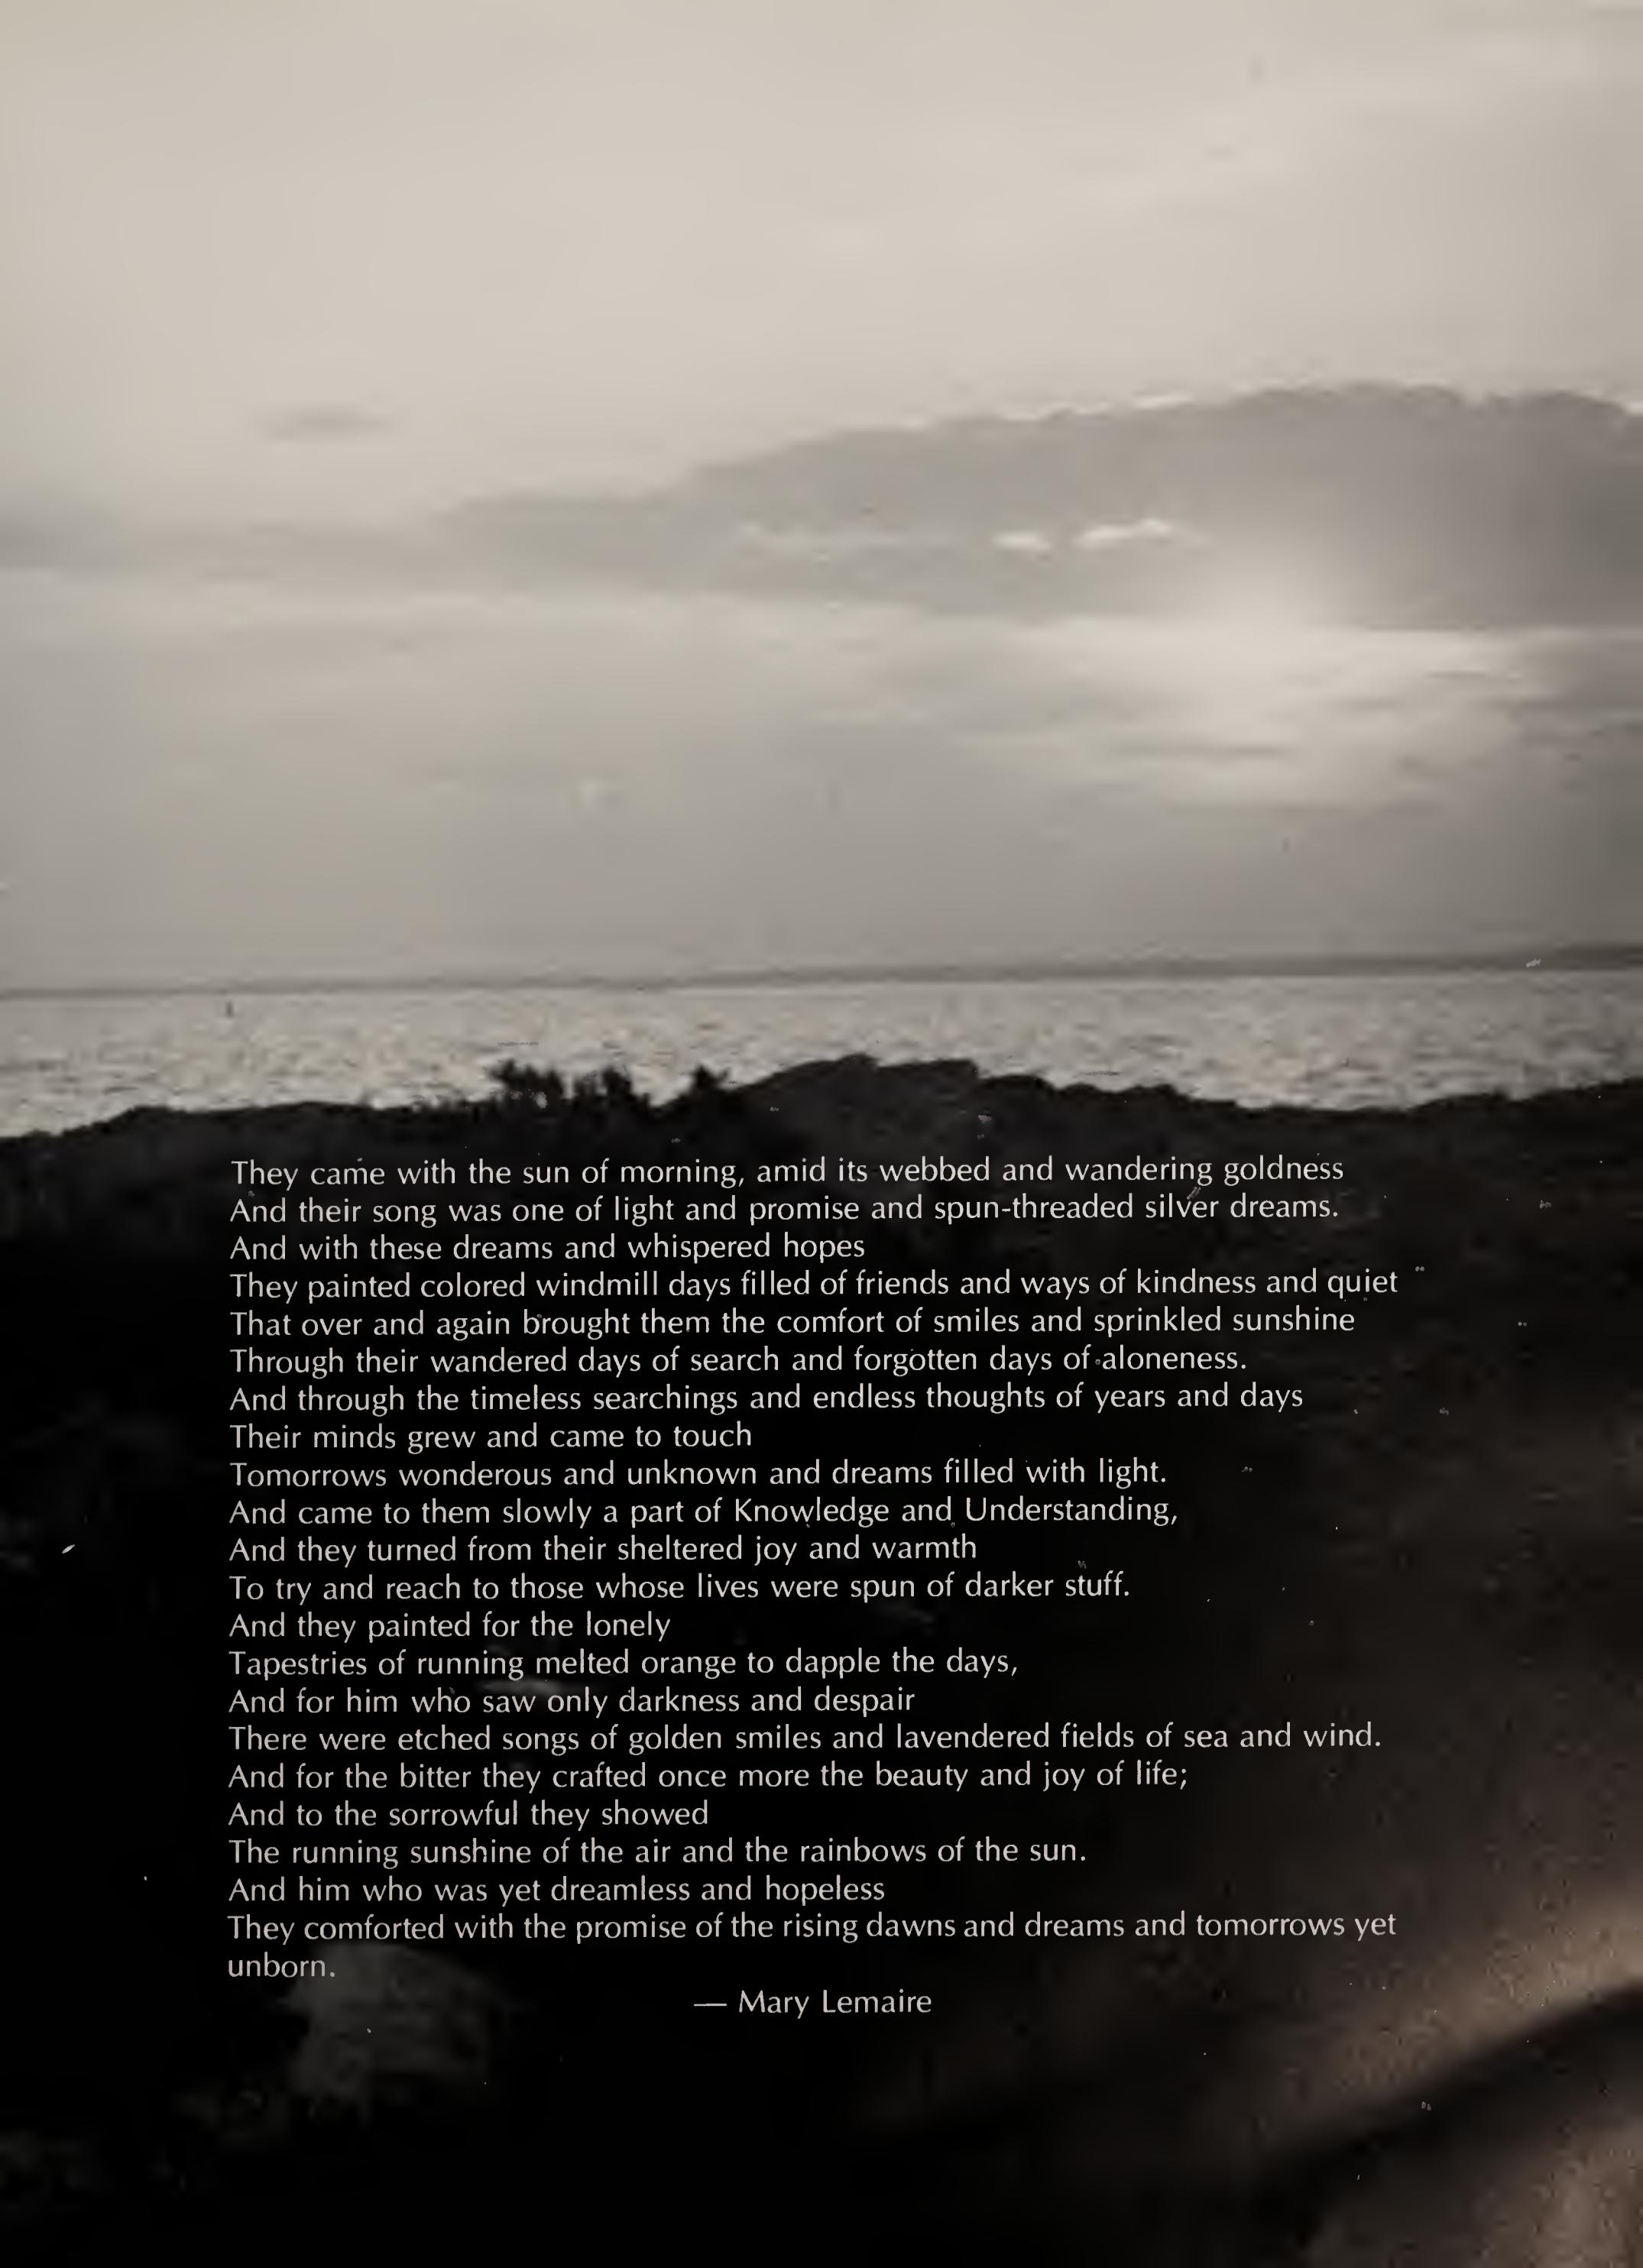

"F" enjoyed fiddling with electronics and was very talented at it. He was a member of Blue Mule and also made and ran the light shows for the groups, Crossover and Mugs. If he were here today, he would also be doing the lights for Ulysses.

Better known by Frank as "Big H," Mr. Harney was one of his favorite teachers.

Several weeks before his accident, Frank spoke with some friends about how he wanted people to react, if he died. He did not want people to mourn him, but wanted us to have a party and remember him for what he was. So, on April 18, 1979, all "F's" friends threw a party in his honor.

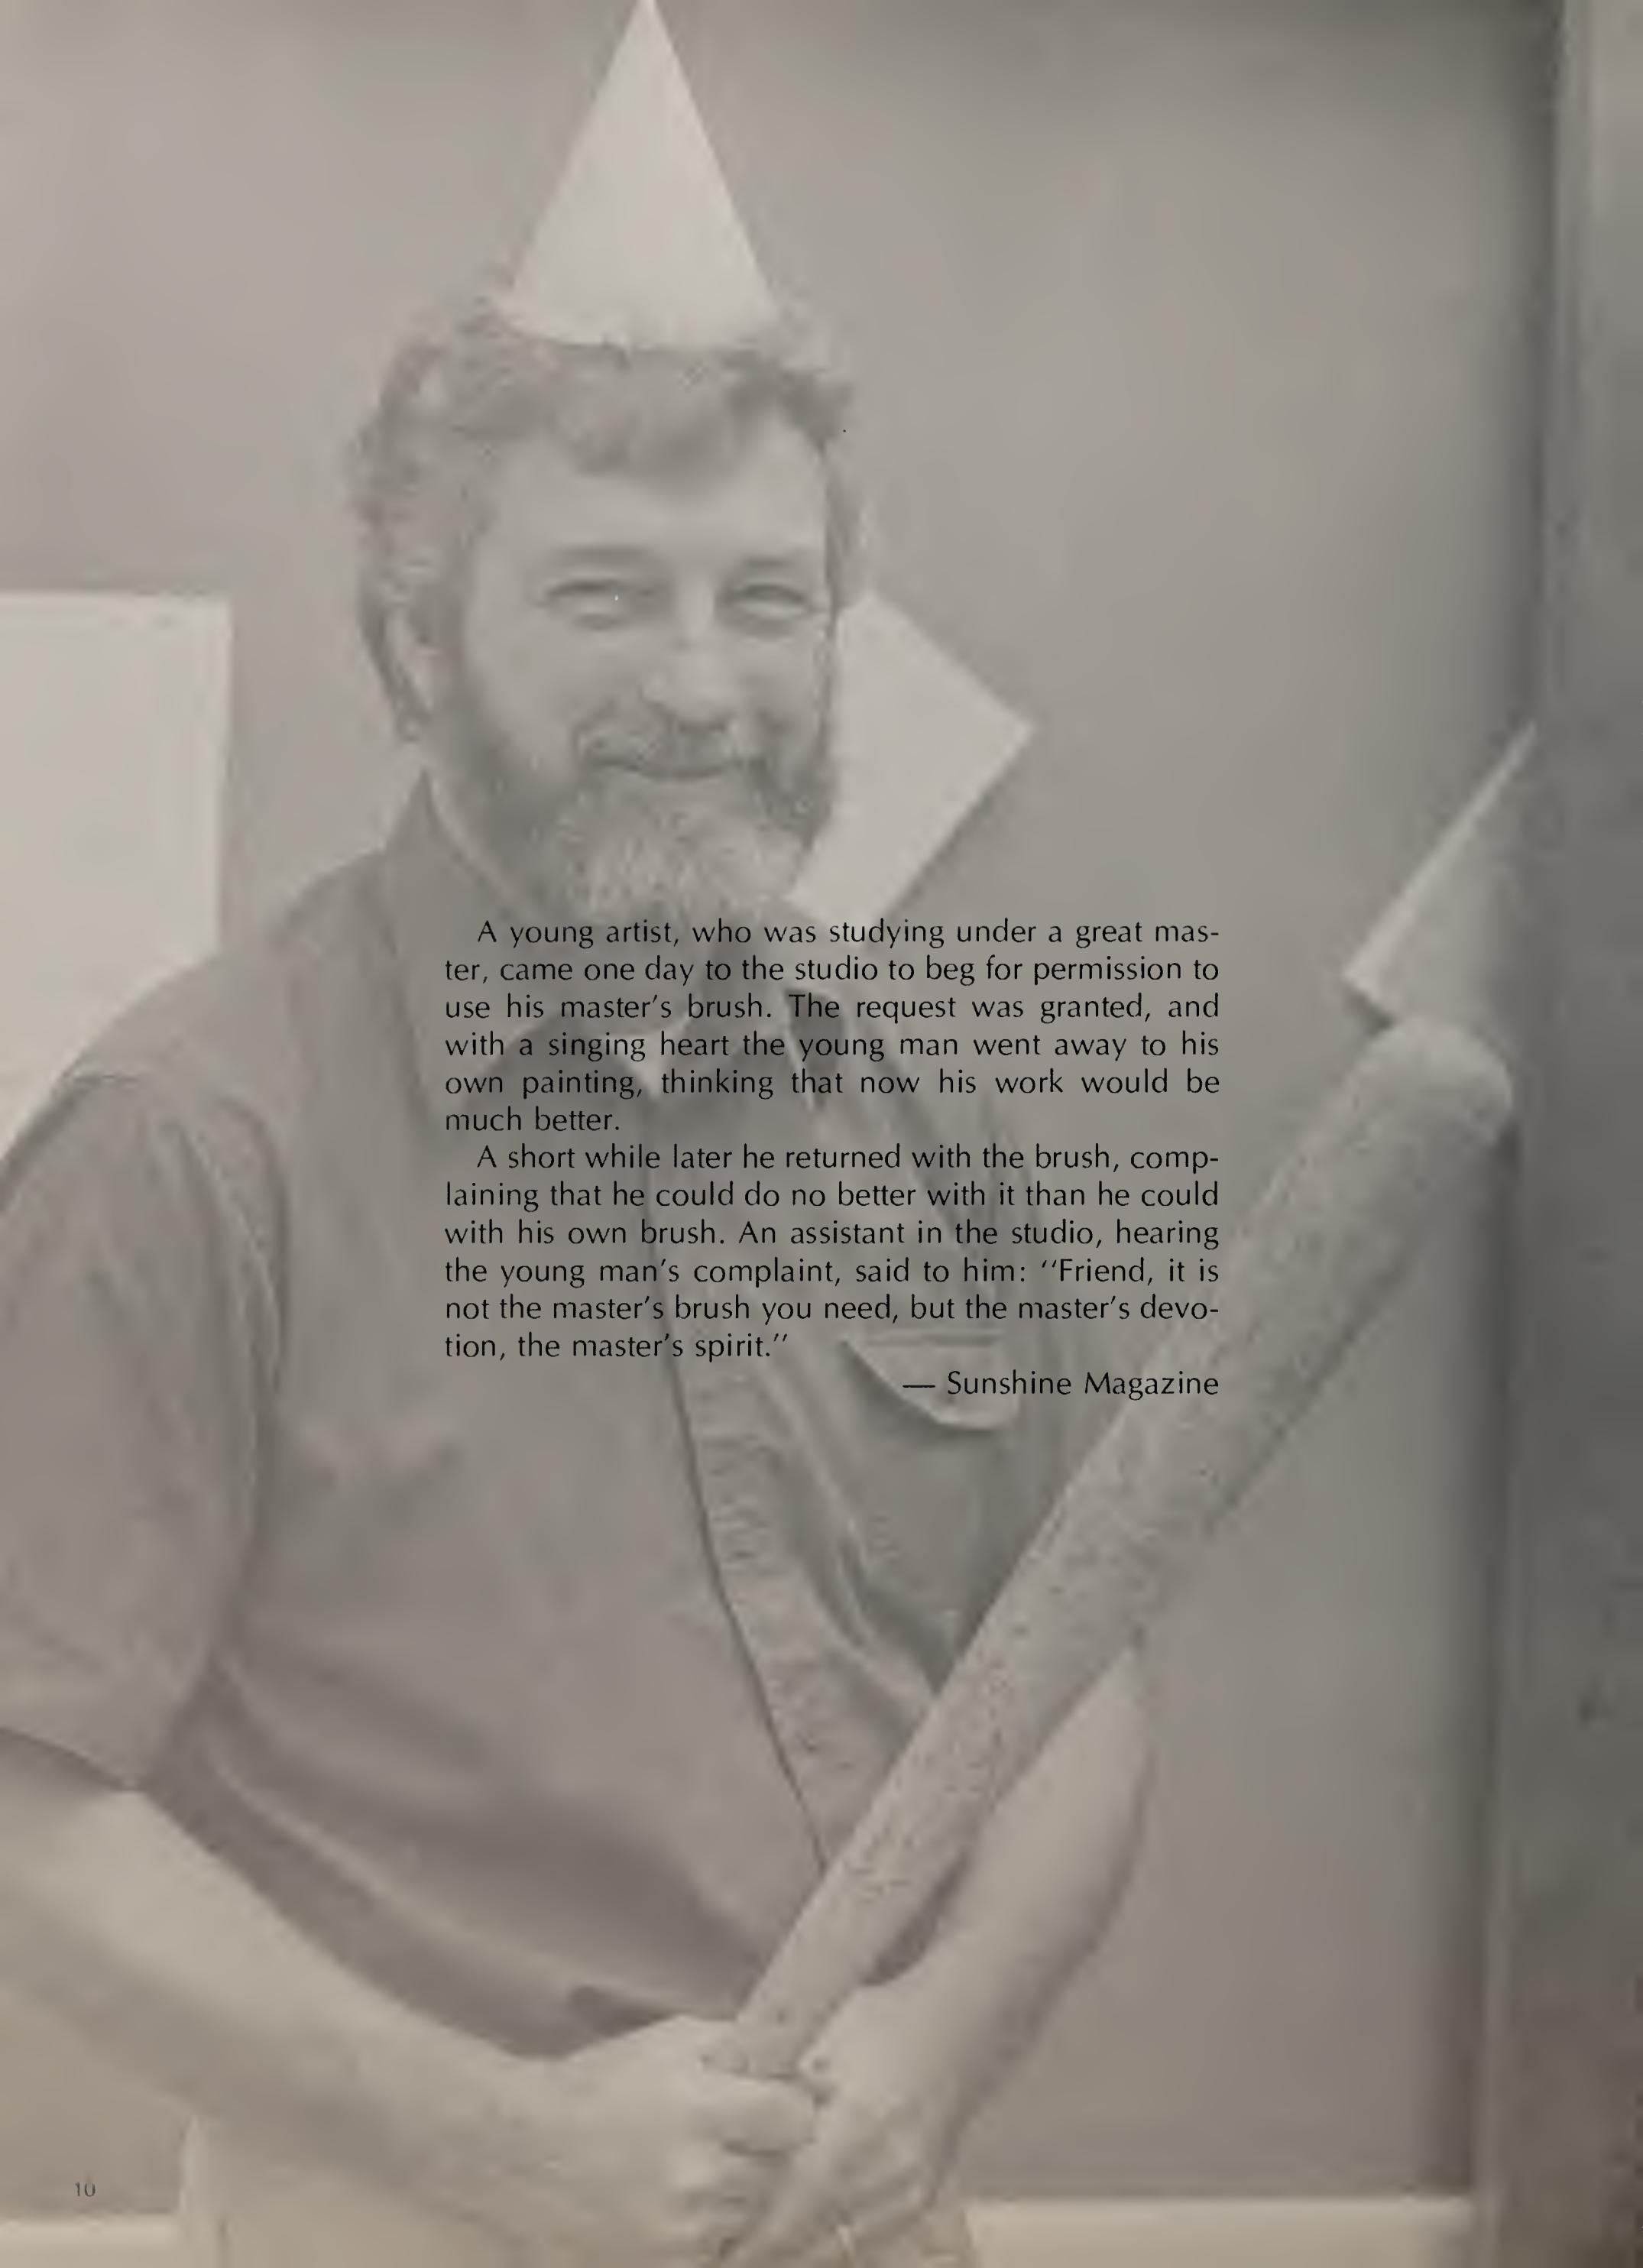

"I'll Follow The Sun"
— Beatles as sung by Dent and Belli
One Day You'll Look
To See I've Gone
But Tomorrow May Rain
So I'll Follow The Sun.

Cindy Chambers and Bonnie McIntire

They came with the sun of morning, amid its webbed and wandering goldness
And their song was one of light and promise and spun-threaded silver dreams.
And with these dreams and whispered hopes
They painted colored windmill days filled of friends and ways of kindness and quiet
That over and again brought them the comfort of smiles and sprinkled sunshine
Through their wandered days of search and forgotten days of aloneness.
And through the timeless searchings and endless thoughts of years and days
Their minds grew and came to touch
Tomorrows wonderous and unknown and dreams filled with light.
And came to them slowly a part of Knowledge and Understanding,
And they turned from their sheltered joy and warmth
To try and reach to those whose lives were spun of darker stuff.
And they painted for the lonely
Tapestries of running melted orange to dapple the days,
And for him who saw only darkness and despair
There were etched songs of golden smiles and lavendered fields of sea and wind.
And for the bitter they crafted once more the beauty and joy of life;
And to the sorrowful they showed
The running sunshine of the air and the rainbows of the sun.
And him who was yet dreamless and hopeless
They comforted with the promise of the rising dawns and dreams and tomorrows yet unborn.

— Mary Lemaire

A young artist, who was studying under a great master, came one day to the studio to beg for permission to use his master's brush. The request was granted, and with a singing heart the young man went away to his own painting, thinking that now his work would be much better.

A short while later he returned with the brush, complaining that he could do no better with it than he could with his own brush. An assistant in the studio, hearing the young man's complaint, said to him: "Friend, it is not the master's brush you need, but the master's devotion, the master's spirit."

GOOD-BYE!

Good morning yesterday, you wake up and time has slipped away, and suddenly it's hard to find the memories you left behind, remember, do you remember the laughter and the tears, the shadows of misty yester-years? The good times and the bad you've seen and all the others in between, remember, do you remember the times of your life?

Reach back for the joy and the sorrow, put them away in your mind, for mem'ries are time that you borrow to spend when you get to tomorrow. Here comes the setting sun, the seasons are passing one by one so gather moments while you may, collect the dreams you dream today, remember, will you remember the times of your life.

CLASS HISTORY

Good morning, today is Sunday June 8, day 711. Today will be a nine period day. The ninth period will begin now as we recall the events of the past four years.

Our Freshman year began, with the merging of Coolidge and Parker, and the struggle to survive the first weeks. We were the guinea pigs; assigned studies, midyears and finals, the Pledge of Allegiance, and a moment of silence. 1976, the Bicentennial and election year . . . RMHS picks Ford . . . the nation picks Carter.

On to our Sophomore year . . . moneymaking begins with infamous bake sales and car washes . . . career orientation in homeroom: the choices are unlimited! . . . coed gym . . . Roots thrills the nation and the geneology craze begins . . . The Blizzard of '78 and Massachusetts is declared in a State of Emergency; Dr. Wells had no choice: Reading schools were closed.

In our Junior year we were upperclassmen finally! . . . It was a year of change . . . switched to a six-day schedule . . . free periods . . . The team of D'Orlando and Sellers . . . new attendance rules . . . Decisions 3: grid out your latest dilemma . . . Chemistry and unknown salts . . . Disco . . . apple-picking . . . We ran out of food at the Junior Buffet . . . The mind-boggling PSATs and SATs . . . Spring . . . skip day: half the school missing? . . . The drinking age is raised to 20, $#?♂* King . . . Junior Prom - "Always and Forever" . . .

The clambake.

Finally, it's our Senior year. Where did the time go? . . . The famous senior pass . . . pumpkinining: surprise, Mr. Croft! . . . Girls' Night Out . . . The unforgettable college application trauma, and of course, Saturday morning SATs and ACHs . . . Spirit Week; hat day, pizza pig-out, powder puff football, and Diane Kennedy is voted Football Queen . . . Stylized wif-fles . . . a new mural in the cafe . . . a new somewhat chilly entrance into the math wings . . . a green Christmas . . . the Iran Crisis . . . Another energy crisis - gas for $1.20 a gallon . . . The 80's, end of the "me" decade and the beginning of? . . . Afghanistan . . . The draft? . . . presidential campaigning begins . . . Kowloon Night . . . Carnation Day . . . Senior Talent Night . . . and on April 15, the college trauma ends . . . The final days; senior skip day, "Head for the beach!", senior banquet, senior prom, and Graduation: party time!

Let us never forget; the library hassles - only four to a table . . . the window club . . . Mongo's parties . . . W.P.A. - always one step ahead of the cops . . . "Go for it!" . . . "Do it up!" . . . Mac's . . . cruising and raving.

All freshmen, sophomores and juniors should now report to period one. All seniors will leave school (Don't forget to sign out on your senior pass.) and proceed on to face the world.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS AND ADVISOR

Finally a dream is about to come true. Like a thought one day, that this day is not the same as the others. Tomorrow will be different. And it will! We will never pass this way again but I have a heart full of gratitude and pleasure as your Senior class advisor. For me the past year has been short. A year — a lifetime, passes quickly in the making of friends and having so many things to do.

Be the great person you are. Give the very best of yourself to each and every person that passes. My best wishes for happiness and achievement.

Mr. B

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENTS

First of all I want to thank all of you who have helped me in making my time here so fantastic. What this year has given me is beyond measure. I had a hard time deciding whether or not to come to America, but I think it will be even harder when the time comes to leave.

I was very fortunate to get a loving and understanding family. Together we have shared many memorable experiences. Travel, holidays, and assuming certain responsibilities and freedoms have made me feel part of the family and have also taught a great deal about the American culture to me.

Reading and the people here have become a very important part of my life. Through various clubs and activities I have gotten to know different types of people and what it is like to be an American teenager. I have found that the people here are open and friendly. It is beautiful the way they have absorbed me so readily into their culture. Never in my life have I made so many friends in so short a time. Basically, I have led a very ordinary American life with my ups and downs. When depressed, there has always been someone to cheer me up.

As much as this year has been fun for me, it has been a great time of learning, sharing, and growing. With the help of my family, friends, and teachers, I have become more open minded and accepting of others. I have been able to compare two cultures and I have found that the exteriors don't mean much, for "deep inside we are all the same."

Marja-Liisa Virtanen
Y.F.U. — Finland — USA 1979-1980

This year has given me a first hand experience of a different culture in which I've learned to understand and accept things that do not fit into my old custom and value system. Every exchange student feels differently about their new situation and experiences. But in the end, the immediate feelings do not count; more important is how hard we've tried and how much we've learned through our experiences.

Meeting my host family, the Willis', for the first time will be a moment I'll never forget. There they were, a lady with three children — strangers. With these people I was supposed to share one year of my life. Within the next few hours, I had held a little girl in my arms, eaten dinner at the same table, and slept under the same roof with them. Suddenly I was a part of them and they were a part of me.

A few days before school started I visited the high school. The building looked like a factory to me. However, soon the whole high school way of life became a great and exciting way of life for me. All the clubs, school events, and responsibilities gave the word school a new meaning. All the teachers and students were kind and understanding. Among these people I have found some very loving friends. Thanks to them I made it through the hard times.

It is strange that all this will have to end. But even when I leave, my experiences here will live on inside me forever.

Claudia Frischknecht
A.F.S. — Switzerland — USA 1979-1980

Last summer I had what will probably be the most exciting summer of my life. For two months, my home was in Kilis, Turkey. I experienced a new language, lived a totally new lifestyle, and adopted a new family that I will never forget.

When I arrived, I really did not know what my Turkish family, the Esrefkasim's, would be like. I found out that they were very kind, warm, and friendly people. The biggest barrier I had to overcome was the language. Turkish is a difficult language to learn, but with their help I overcame it and made the adjustment from guest to family member.

The country itself is beautiful and rich in history, modern as well as ancient. The Turkish culture was fun to be a part of. I even participated in a holiday called Ramazan where we fasted for a month, eating only two meals a day at night, one at 8 p.m. and the other at 2 a.m. I will never forget the mosques, the towns, the cities, the food, and the people. I really felt at home among them.

My experiences will be ones never to be forgotten. I miss my family and friends but their memories are always with me. Someday, I just may go back. I'm glad the A.F.S. made this experience possible for me.

"Always and forever, each moment with you is just like a dream to me that somehow came true. And I know tomorrow, we'll still be the same 'cause we've got a life of love that won't ever change.

And every day love me your own special way, melt all my heart away with a smile. Take time to tell me, you really care, and we'll spend tomorrow together. I'll always love you . . .

There'll always be sunshine when I look at you. It's something I can't explain. It's just the things that you do. And if you get lonely, phone me and take a second to give to me that magic you make.

And every day . . ."

"Time it was,

And what a time it was.

It was a time of innocence,

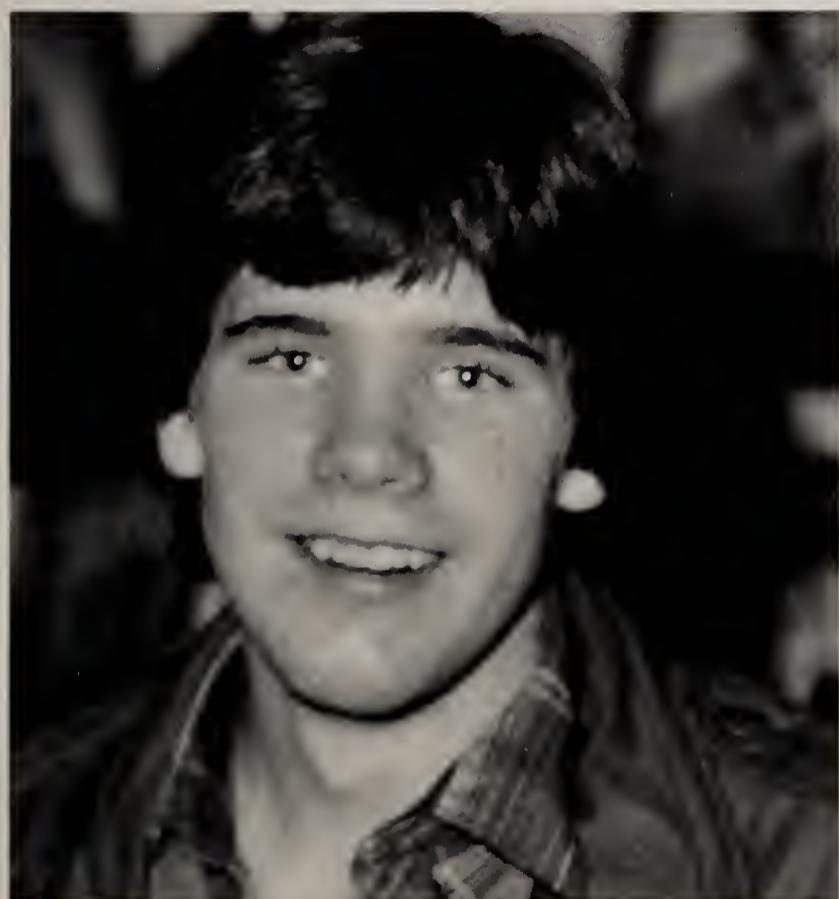

A time of confidences.

Long ago it must be

I have a photograph;

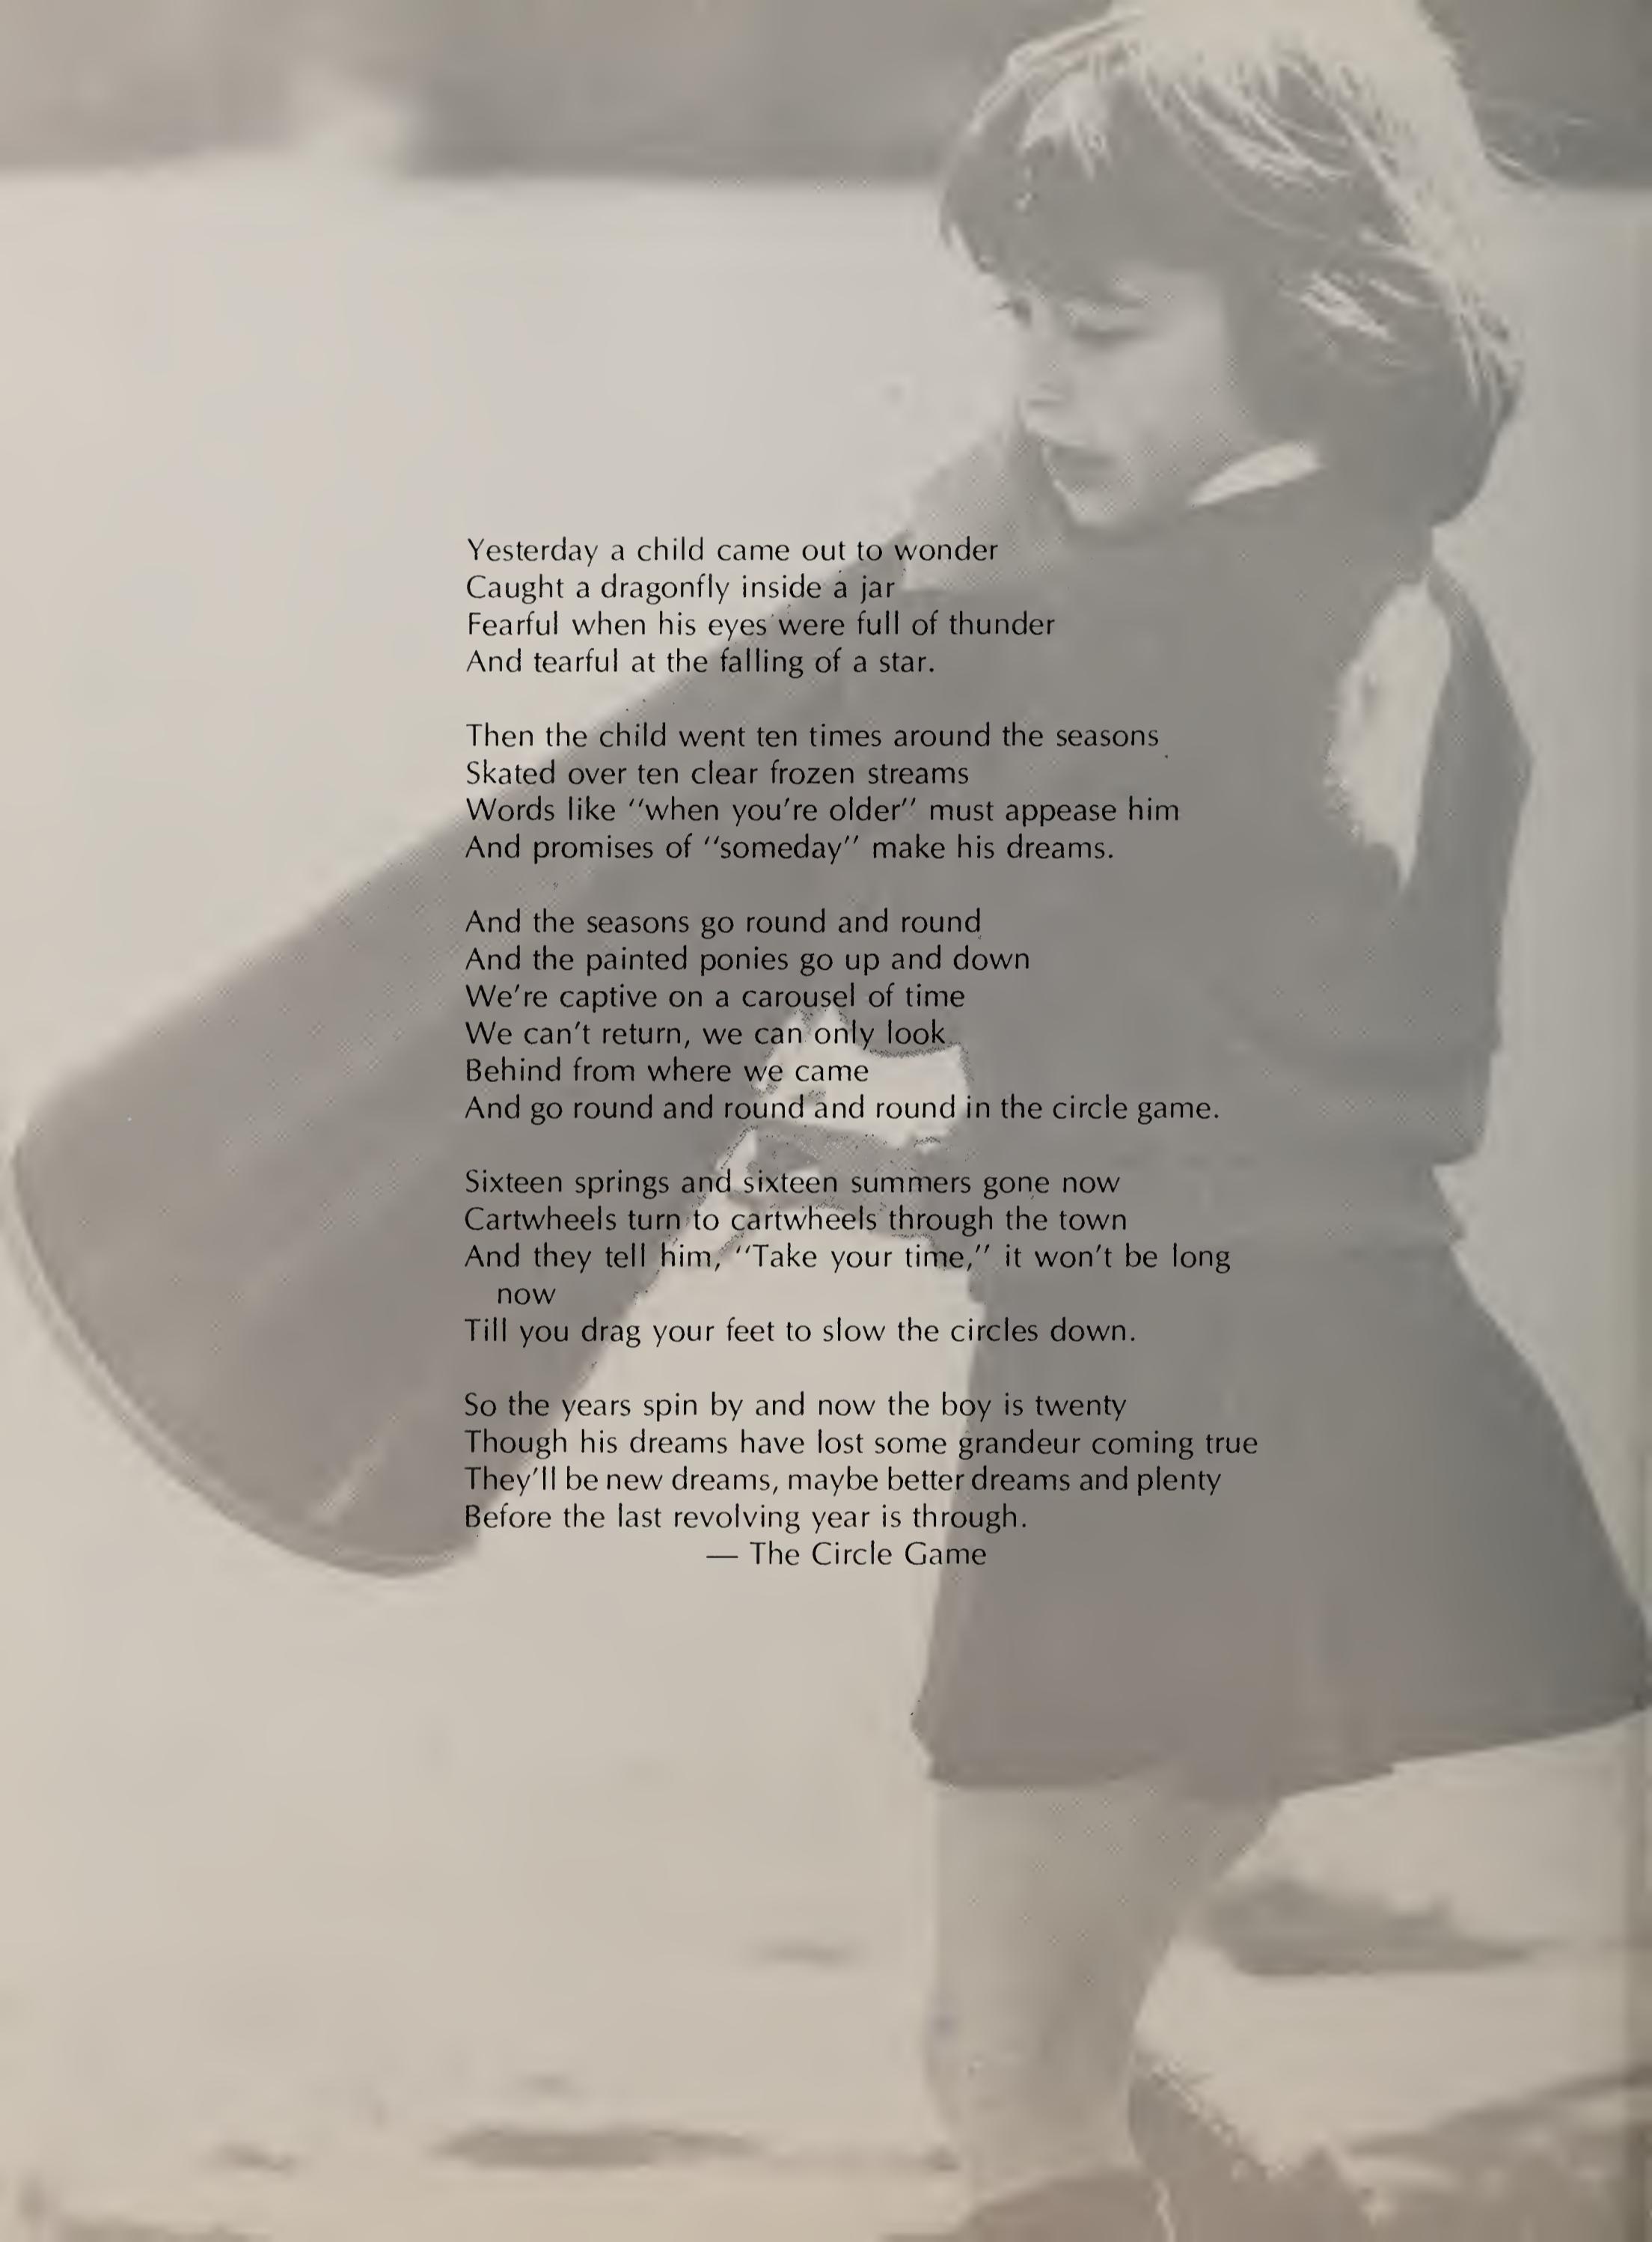

Preserve your memories,

They're all that's left you."

— Simon & Garfunkel

Yesterday a child came out to wonder
Caught a dragonfly inside a jar
Fearful when his eyes were full of thunder
And tearful at the falling of a star.

Then the child went ten times around the seasons
Skated over ten clear frozen streams
Words like "when you're older" must appease him
And promises of "someday" make his dreams.

And the seasons go round and round
And the painted ponies go up and down
We're captive on a carousel of time
We can't return, we can only look
Behind from where we came
And go round and round and round in the circle game.

Sixteen springs and sixteen summers gone now
Cartwheels turn to cartwheels through the town
And they tell him, "Take your time," it won't be long now
Till you drag your feet to slow the circles down.

So the years spin by and now the boy is twenty
Though his dreams have lost some grandeur coming true
They'll be new dreams, maybe better dreams and plenty
Before the last revolving year is through.

When I went to the circus that had pitched on the waste lot

It was full of uneasy people
Frightened of the bare earth and the temporary canvas
And the smell of horses and other beasts
Instead of merely the smell of man.

Monkeys rode rather grey and wizened
On curly plump piebald ponies
And the children uttered a little cry —
And the dogs jumped through hoops and turned somersaults
And then the geese scuttled in a little flock
And round the wing they went to the sound of the ship
Then doubled, and back, with a funny up flutter of wings —
And the children suddenly shouted out,
Then came the hush again, like a hush of fear,
The trapeze man, slim and beautiful and like a fish in the air
Swung great curves through the upper space, and came down like a star
— And the people applauded, with hollow, frightened applause.

Horses, gay horses, swirling round and plaiting in a long line,
their heads laid over each others necks;
They were happy, they enjoyed it;
All the creatures seemed to enjoy the game in the circus,
with their circus people.

Probing into the depths of depression.

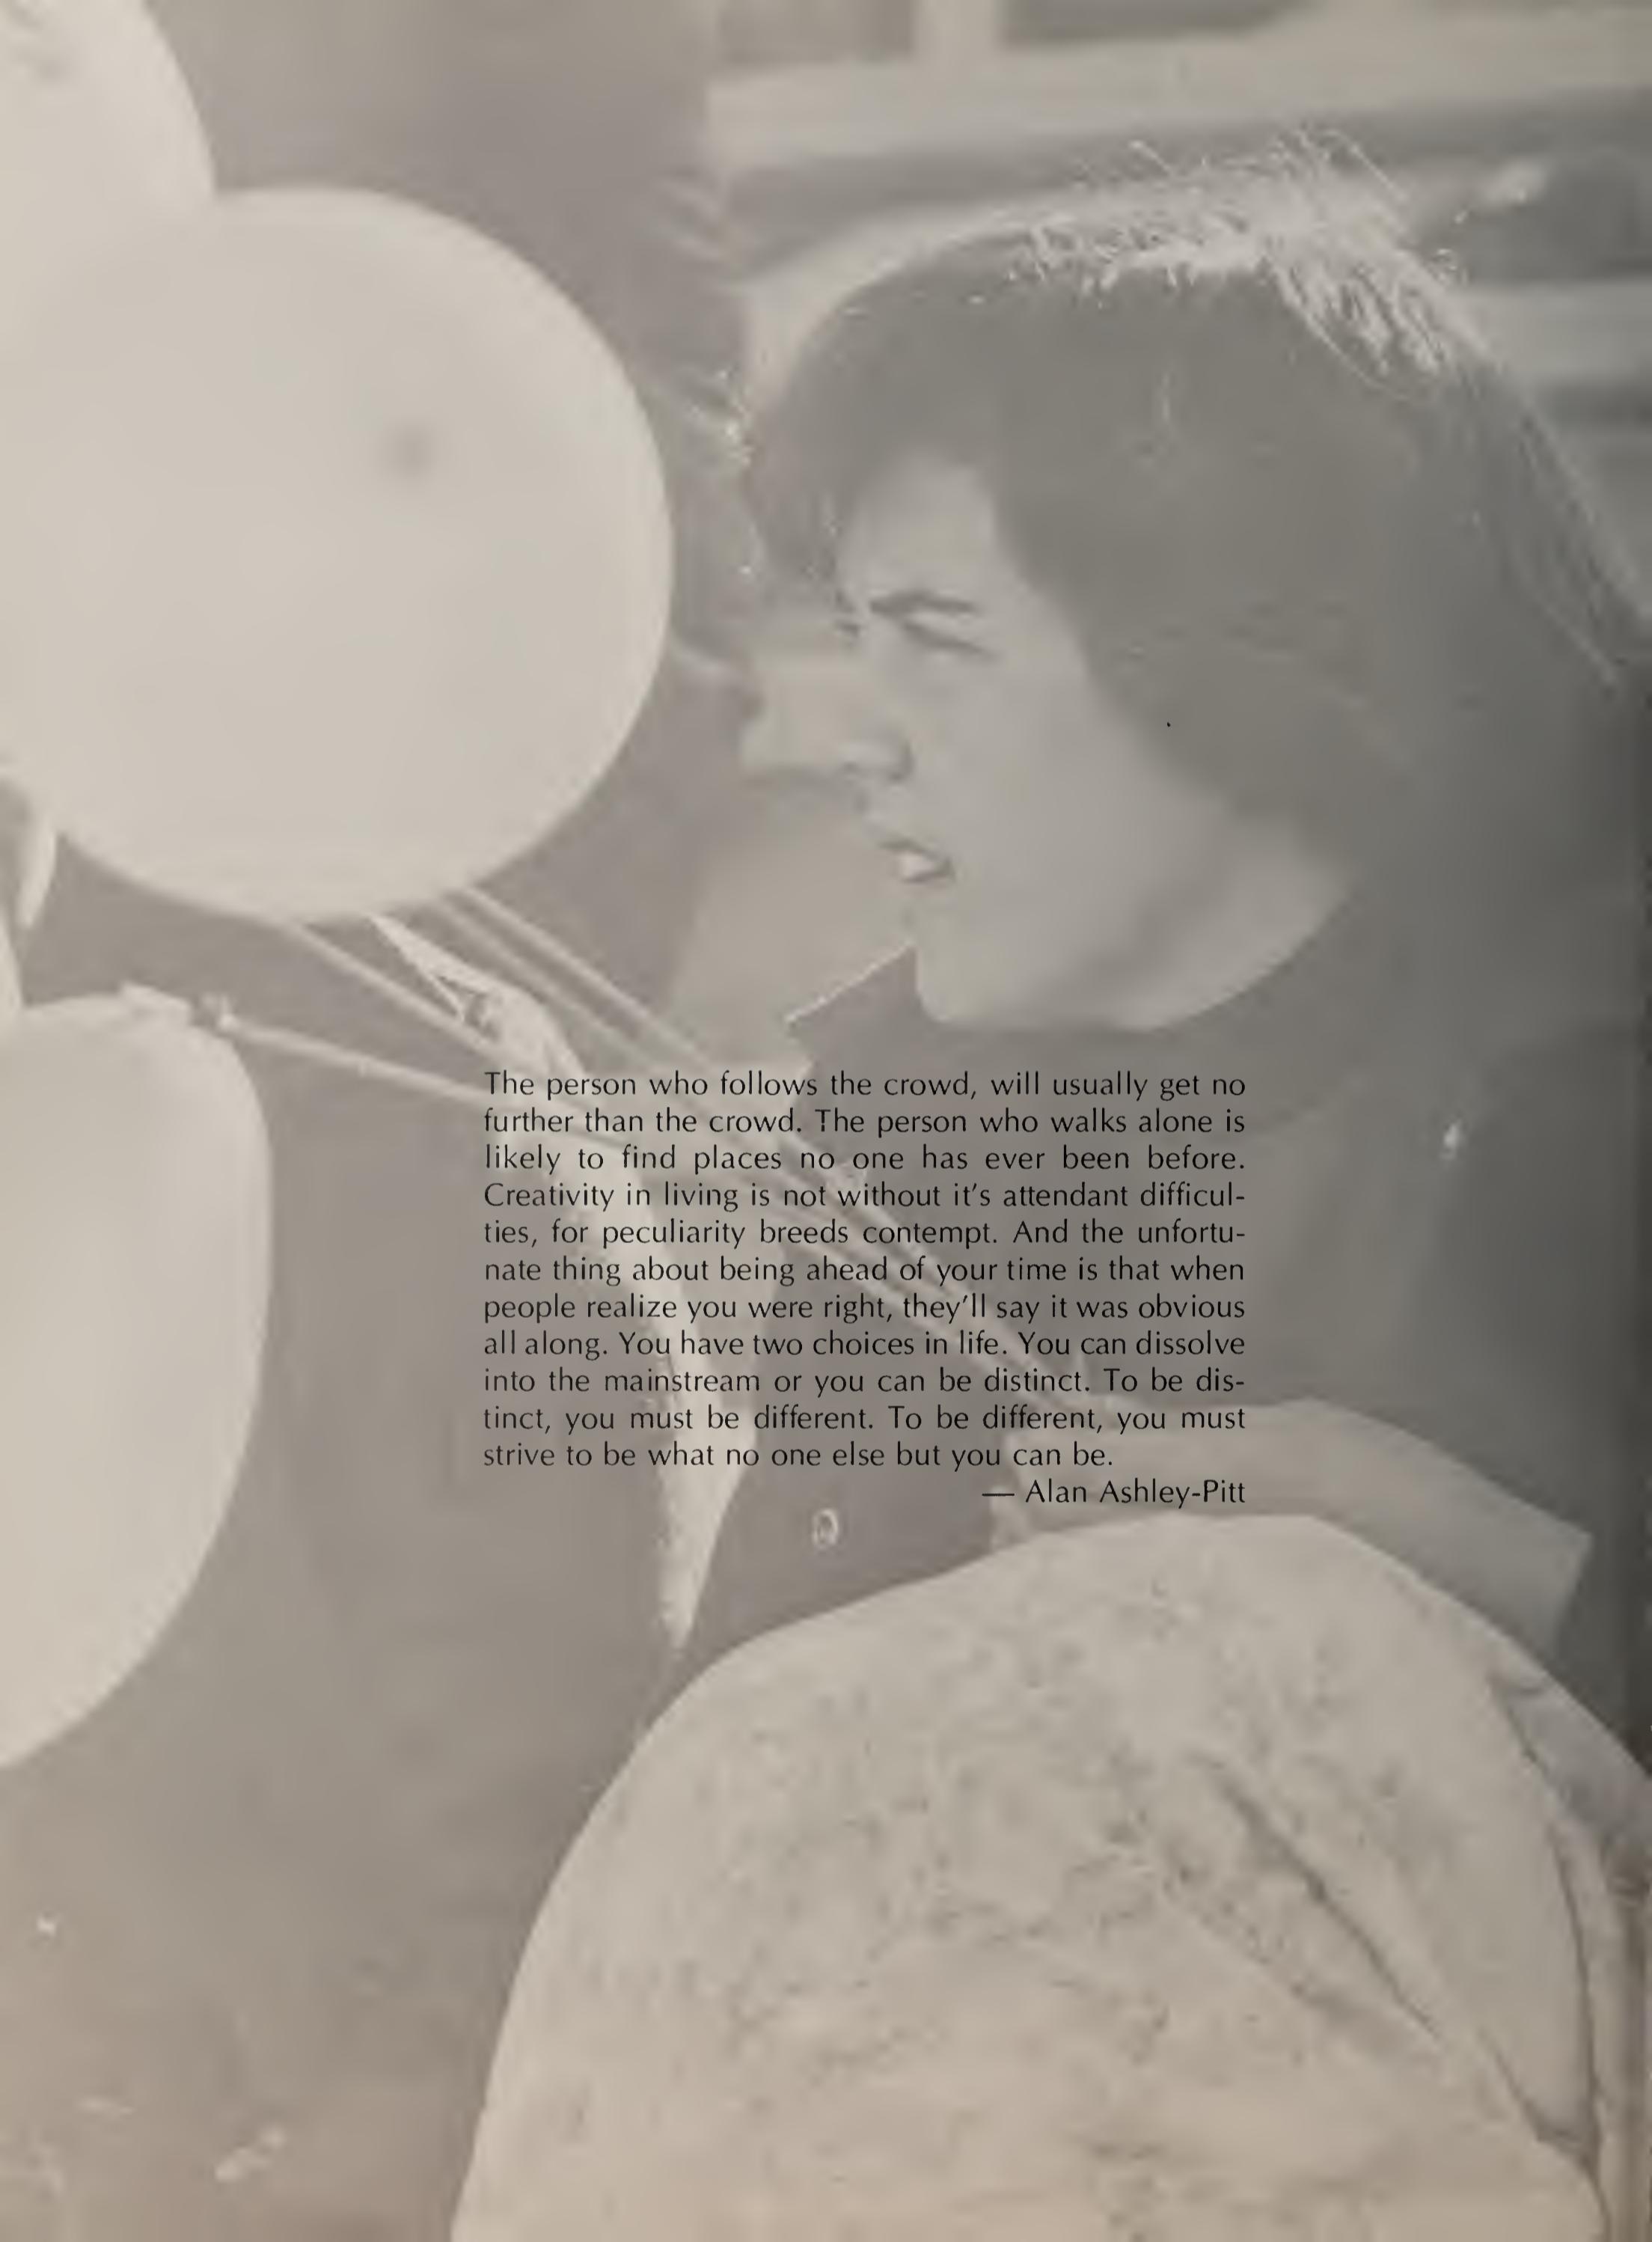

Do the bump-bump, bump!!

Let me at him!!

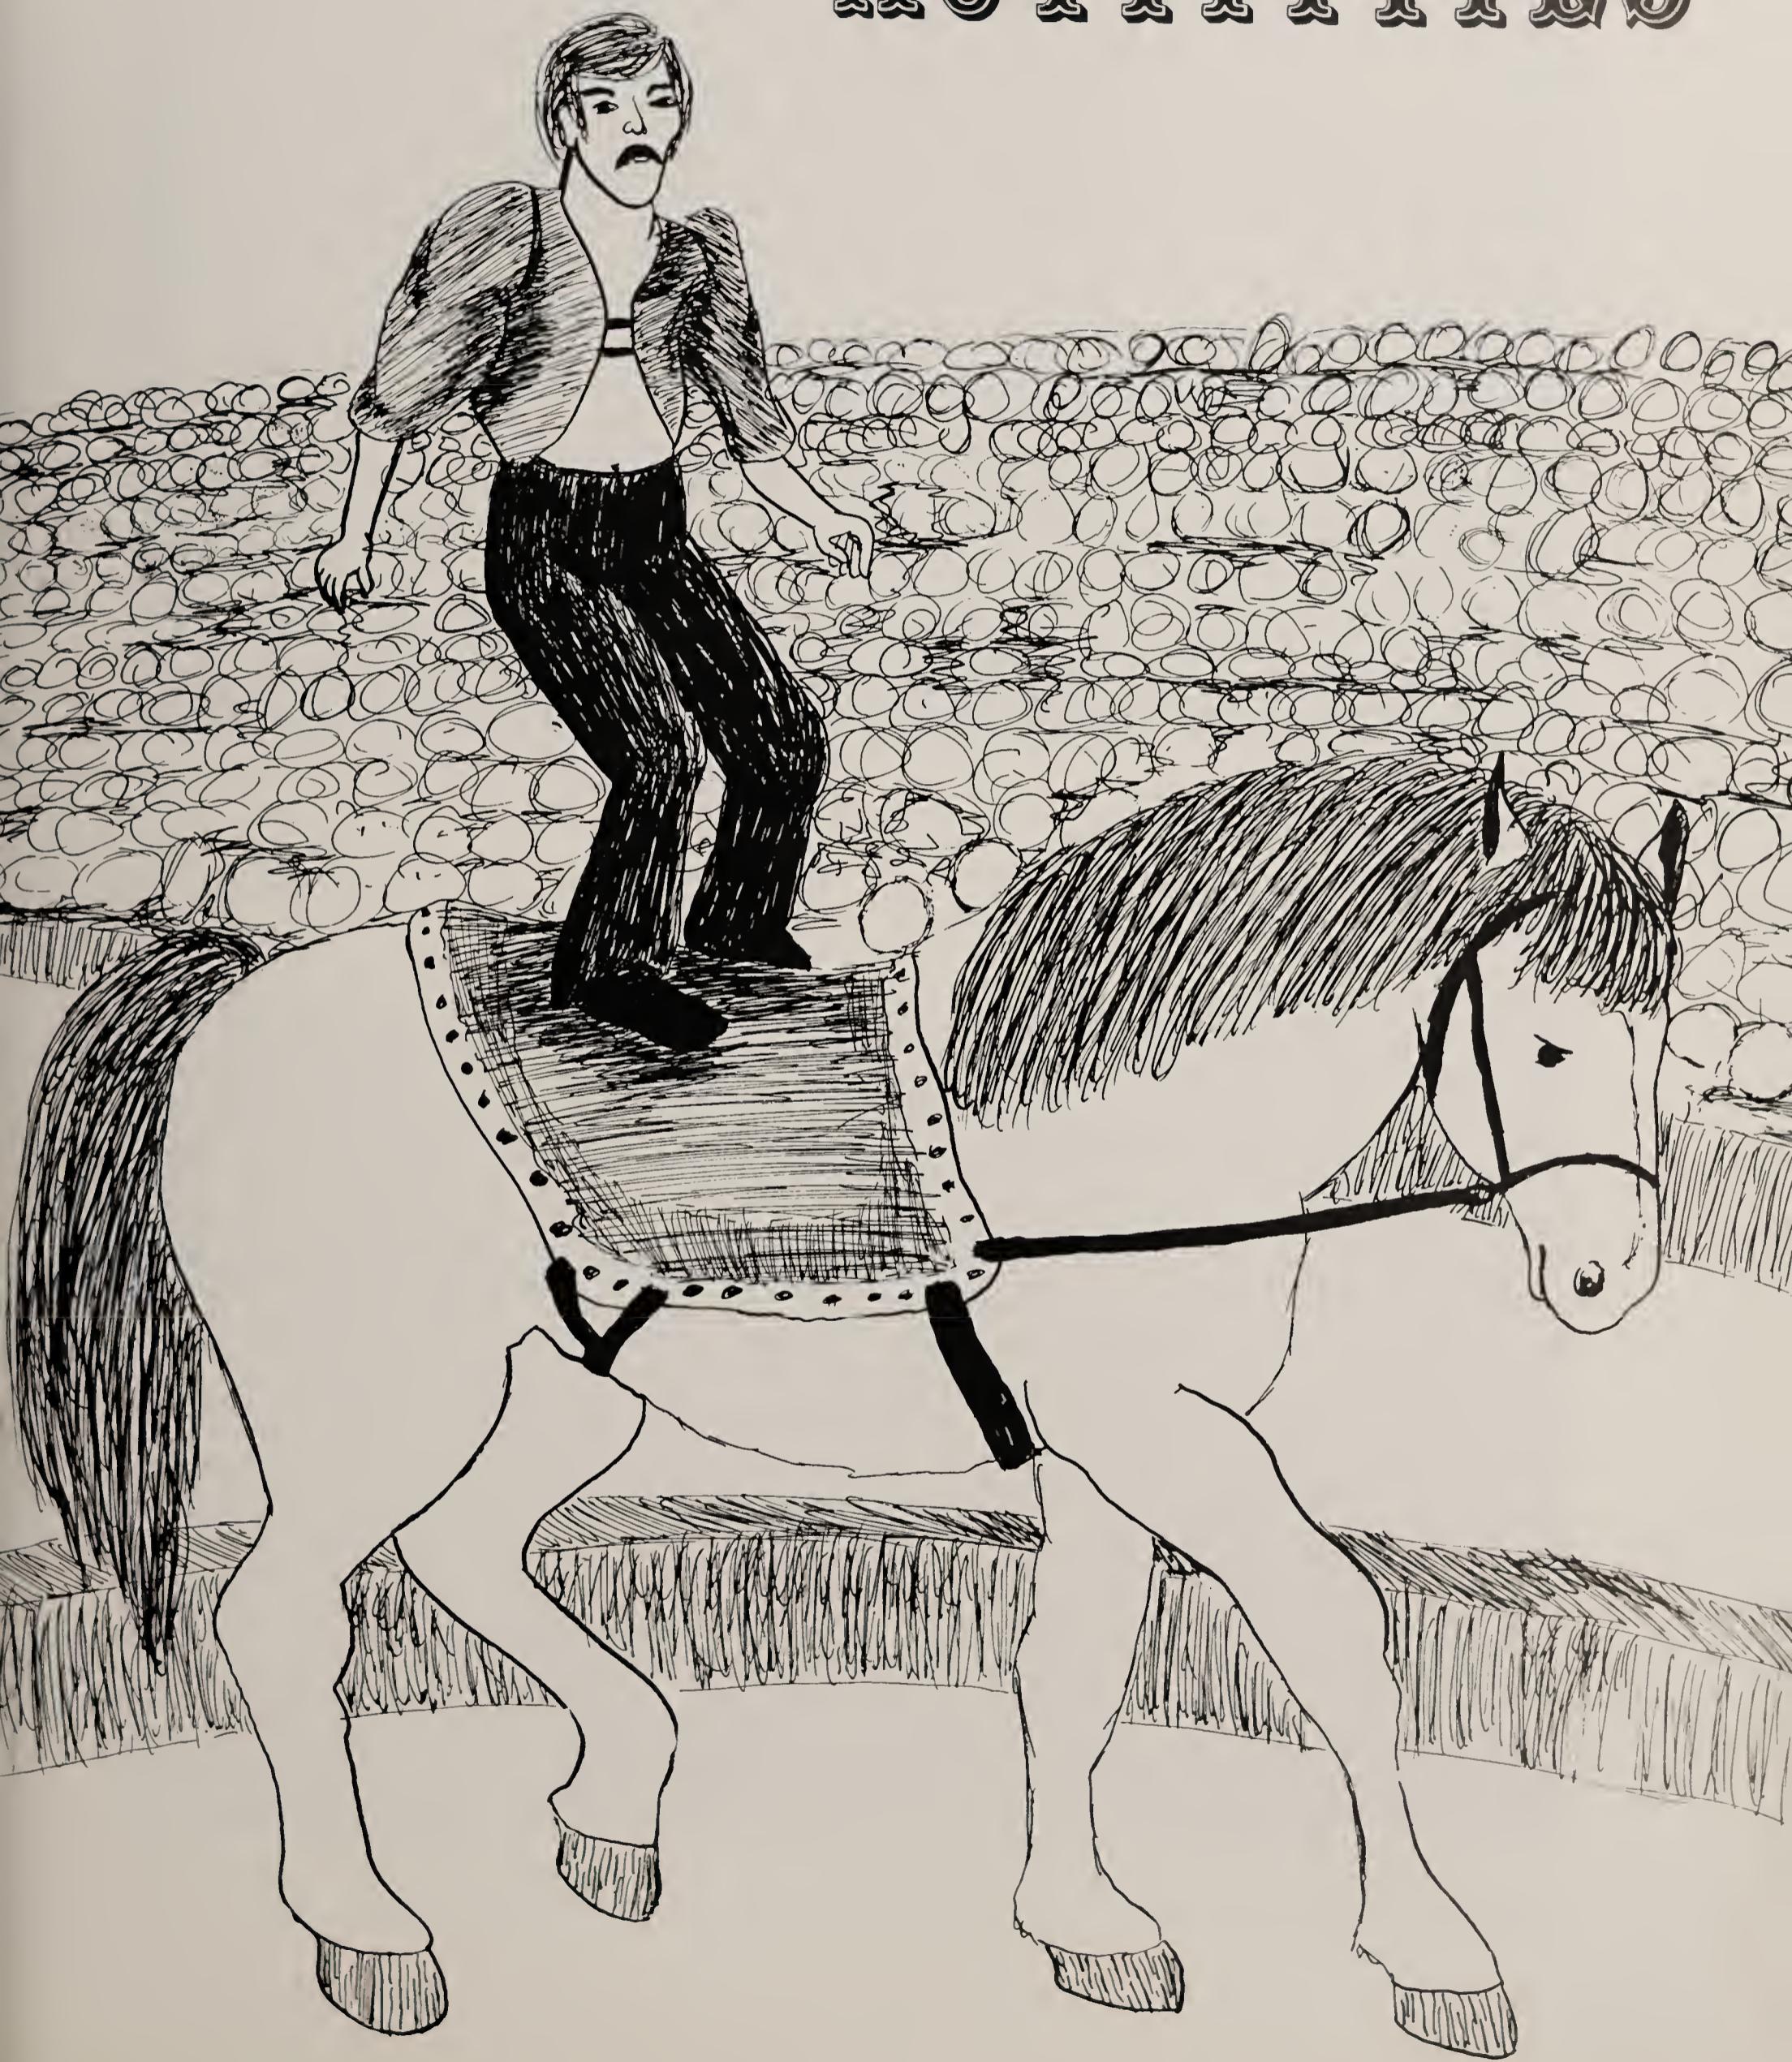

Ooh! . . . I broke a nail! But that's okay I can make a new one!

The person who follows the crowd, will usually get no further than the crowd. The person who walks alone is likely to find places no one has ever been before. Creativity in living is not without its attendant difficulties, for peculiarity breeds contempt. And the unfortunate thing about being ahead of your time is that when people realize you were right, they'll say it was obvious all along. You have two choices in life. You can dissolve into the mainstream or you can be distinct. To be distinct, you must be different. To be different, you must strive to be what no one else but you can be.

— Alan Ashley-Pitt

The American Way Of Life

What is it?

We see it as ways of life. Not one way, but many. Like individuals. Each with their own distinct goal, life style, likes and dislikes, needs and wants.

That's the real American way of life. And the insurance industry helped protect it for hundreds of years. By individualizing products to help people protect their prized possessions — car, home or business. Or an income — so when laid-up, the cash is there to help maintain a life style. Even a life — so a family unit can maintain its way of life after the catastrophic loss of the family head.

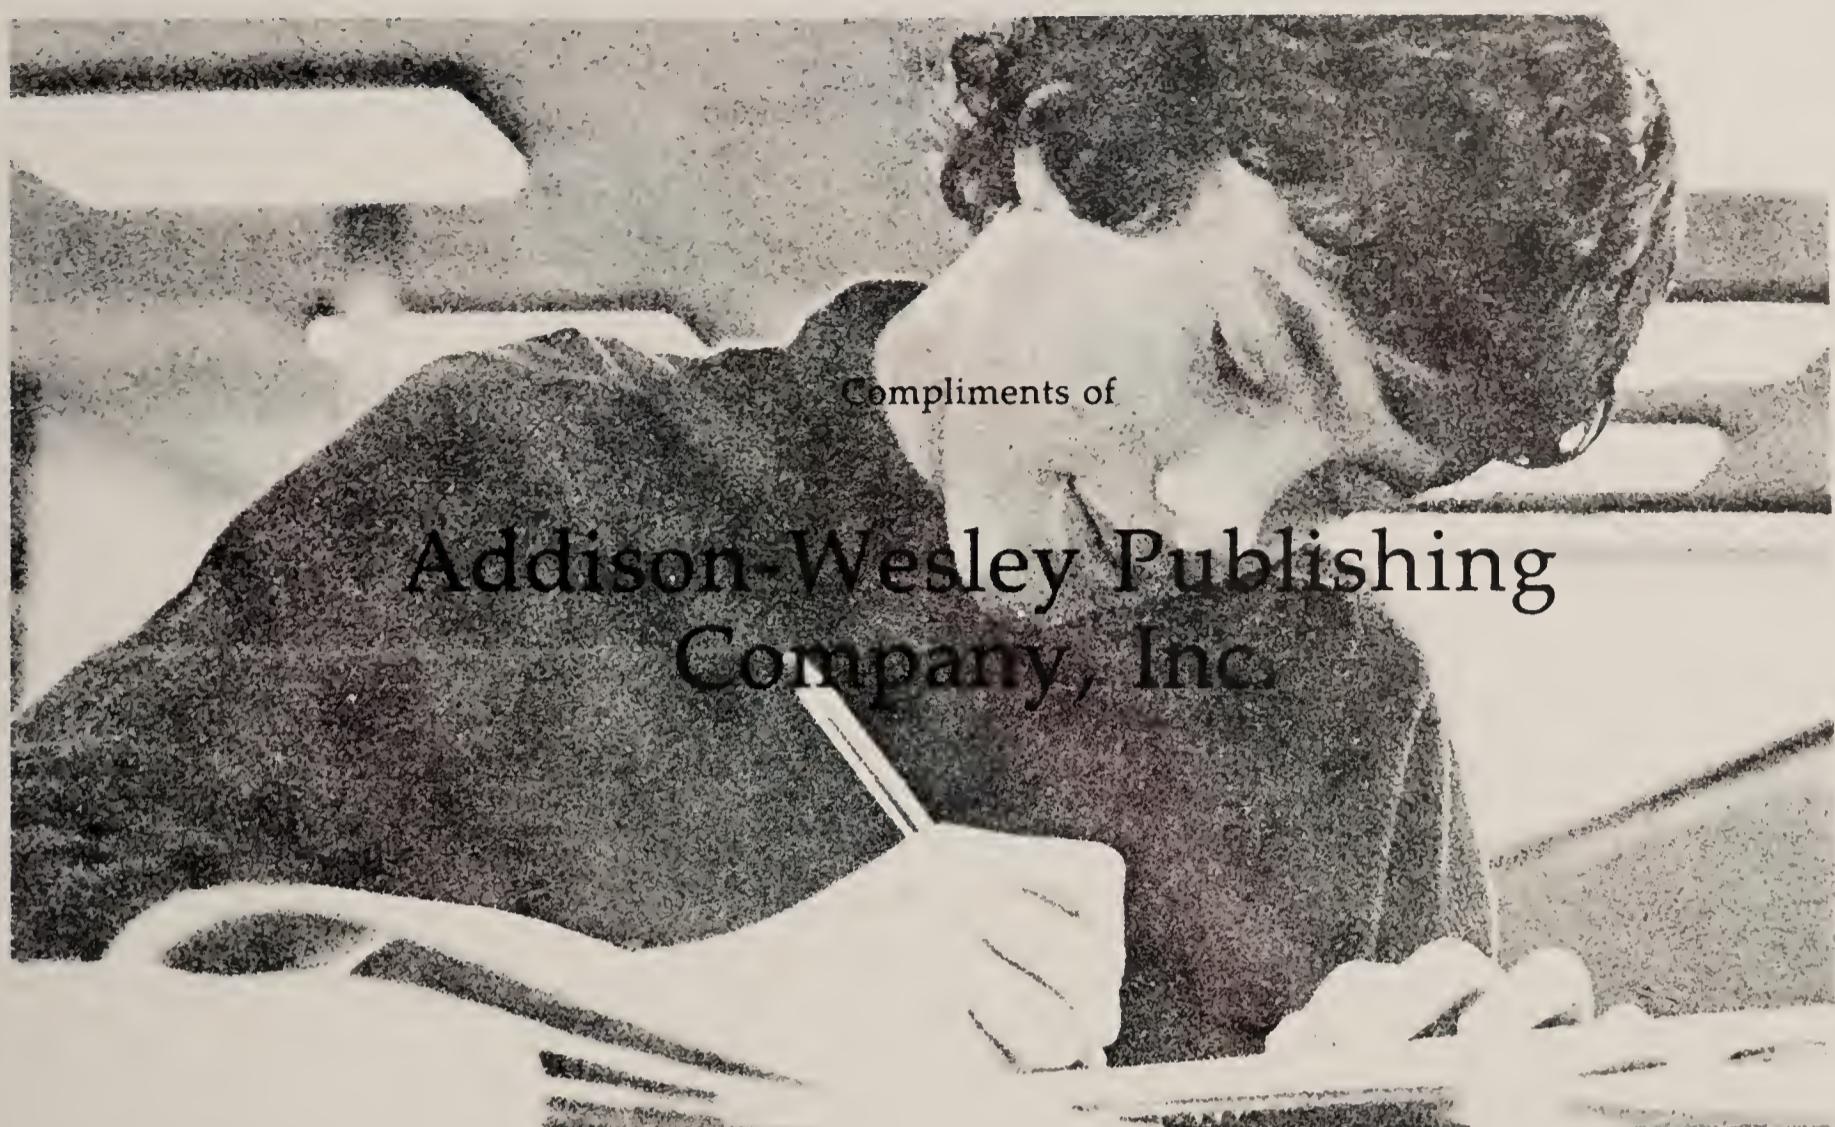

We're a business of people helping people preserve their ways of life.

That's our bag. What's yours? If it's helping people and you want to get involved, talk to American Mutual.

Call our Personnel Department for a glimpse at our way of life.
